

K-Love is like a member of my family and has served to do nothing but offer us an alternative to some of the most pathetic broadcasting that I have heard in recent years. My family listens to K-Love about 90% of the time. We listen to NPR and country the remaining portion. What I refer to as the old pop stations are now filled with pathetic excuses for DJ's who use trash talk to fill air time since they apparently otherwise would be silent due to possibly ignorance. I am a soccer Mom who is in the car a lot. I have young ears with me most of the time and Praise God that we have had the option of listening to family friendly radio. This radio station offers a clean alternative to the public and why would we want to do without it?
